

I would expect in a Democracy that the public would have some input on legislation or administrative decisions that impact their lives. I am very concerned of big business ownership of our collective voice and demand a discussion of the de-regulation of telecommunications, otherwise, I would think that the FCC is in the pocket of big business, along with much of our representatives in Congress and Senate.